What are the Performing Arts?

The Performing arts encompass a diverse range of artistic expressions through live performances, including theater, music, dance, and more. At Veritas, we believe in the transformative power of the performing arts in shaping well-rounded individuals and fostering a deep appreciation for cultural expression.

The Importance of Performing Arts in Classical Education:

The performing arts play a vital role in a classical education, offering students a unique avenue for self-expression, creativity, and personal growth. Engaging in theater allows students to develop confidence, public speaking skills, teamwork, and empathy as they inhabit different characters and explore diverse narratives. Moreover, the performing arts foster critical thinking, cultural awareness, and emotional intelligence, all of which are essential components of a well-rounded education.

At Veritas Collegiate Academy, we understand the profound impact of the performing arts on academic achievement and personal development. Through our theater program, we strive to cultivate a community of passionate performers, storytellers, and art lovers who embrace the magic of the stage and inspire others through their artistic endeavors.

Over the years, our talented students have brought iconic musicals to life, such as Broadway classics like "The Music Man," "Annie," "Mary Poppins," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Guys and Dolls," "Beauty and the Beast," "Cinderella," "The King and I," and others.

The Current Production for 2025 - "The Sound of Music":

This year, we are thrilled to announce that our theater department, led by the esteemed Miss Rebekah Elgut, a graduate of the College of William and Mary, has chosen "The Sound of Music" as our latest musical production. Students at Veritas are eagerly looking forward to being a part of this timeless classic and showcasing their talents on stage.
